CLAIM OF THE PLAINTIFF

Part 1: STATEMENT OF FACTS

- 1. The Plaintiff, the British Columbia Civil Liberties Association (the "BCCLA"), is a non-profit, advocacy group incorporated in 1963 pursuant to British Columbia's Society Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 433, with a registered office located at 900 Helmcken Street, Vancouver, British Columbia, V6Z 1B3.
- 2. The Defendant, the Attorney General of Canada ("Canada"), has an address for service at 900 840 Howe Street, Vancouver, British Columbia, V6Z 2S9.

Definitions

"impugned provisions"

3. This claim challenges, inter alia, the constitutional validity of the provisions of the National Defence Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. N-5 (the "Act") that permit the interception, retention and use of the private communications of persons in Canada. Those provisions are ss. 273.65 and 273.68 of the Act (the "impugned provisions").

"private communications"

4. For the purposes of this claim, "private communications" has the same definition as is set out in s. 183 of the Criminal Code and means any oral or telecommunication made by a person in Canada, or intended to be received by a person in Canada, in circumstances where it is reasonable to expect that the communication will not be intercepted by any

- person other than the person intended to receive it. This definition is incorporated by reference under s. 273.61 of the Act.
- 5. Private communications include, inter alia, the content of email communications, phone communications and text message communications, as well as photographs and video taken with, or stored on, a personal communication device.

"Authorization"

6. For the purposes of this claim, "Authorization" means a written authorization issued by the Minister of National Defence under s. 273.65 of the Act permitting the Communications Security Establishment Canada ("CSEC") to intercept private communications.

"Directive"

7. For the purposes of this claim, "Directive" means a ministerial directive issued by the Minister of National Defence directing CSEC to collect, retain, analyze and/or use metadata associated with or produced by persons in Canada.

"metadata"

- 8. For the purposes of this claim, "metadata" means information associated with a telecommunication which identifies, describes, manages or routes that telecommunication or any part of that telecommunication.
- 9. Metadata includes, inter alia:
 - a. geo-location information;
 - b. phone numbers of mobile phone call participants and call duration;
 - c. addresses of sender and recipient of email communication, time at which email communication was sent and size of email communication;
 - d. internet protocol addresses;
 - e. domain name records; and
 - f. signaling information emitted or received by a personal communication device in the course of the routine operations of the device.

"telecommunication"

10. For the purpose of this claim, "telecommunication" has the same definition as is set out in s. 35 of the Interpretation Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. I–21, and means the emission, transmission or reception of signs, signals, writing, images, sounds or intelligence of any nature by any wire, cable, radio, optical or other electromagnetic system, or by any similar technical system.

The Impugned Provisions

- 11. The impugned provisions came into force in or about December 2001 as a consequence of amendments to the Act resulting from the Anti-Terrorism Act, S.C. 2001, c. 41.
- 12. Section 273.65 of the Act provides that the Minister of National Defence (the "Minister") may authorize CSEC to intercept private communications for two purposes: for obtaining foreign intelligence or for protecting the computer systems or networks of the Government of Canada from mischief, unauthorized use or interference.
- 13. If the Authorization is issued for the purpose of obtaining foreign intelligence, s. 273.65(2) of the Act requires the Minister be satisfied that:
 - a. the interception will be "directed at foreign entities";
 - b. the information could not reasonably be obtained by other means;
 - c. the expected foreign intelligence value of the information justifies the interception; and
 - d. satisfactory measures are in place to protect the privacy of Canadians and to ensure that private communications will only be used or retained if they are essential to international affairs, defence or security.
- 14. If the Authorization is issued for the purpose of protecting the computer systems or networks of the Government of Canada from mischief, unauthorized use or interference, s. 273.65(4) of the Act requires that the Minister be satisfied that:
 - a. the interception is necessary to "identify, isolate or prevent harm to the Government of Canada computer system or networks";
 - b. the information could not reasonably be obtained by other means;
 - c. the consent of persons whose private communications may be intercepted cannot reasonably be obtained;
 - d. satisfactory measures are in place to ensure that only information that is essential to identify, isolate or prevent harm to the Government of Canada computer systems or networks will be used or retained; and
 - e. satisfactory measures are in place to protect the privacy of Canadians in the use or retention of that information.
- 15. Under s. 273.68 of the Act, an Authorization can be valid for up to 12 months and may be renewed without limit.

Operations of CSEC

- 16. CSEC is Canada's national electronic intelligence gathering agency and is charged with collecting signals intelligence, which includes the covert acquisition and processing of foreign electronic communications for the purpose of advancing Canadian interests in defence, security and international affairs.
- 17. Since the enactment of the Anti-Terrorism Act in December 2001, CSEC has derived its statutory authority from Part V. 1 of the Act and has operated as a department within the portfolio of the Minister.
- 18. Pursuant to s. 273.64(1) of the Act, the mandate of CSEC is:
 - a. to acquire and use information from the global information infrastructure for the purpose of providing foreign intelligence, in accordance with Government of Canada intelligence priorities;
 - b. to provide advice, guidance and services to help ensure the protection of electronic information and of information infrastructures of importance to the Government of Canada; and
 - c. to provide technical and operational assistance to federal law enforcement and security agencies in the performance of their lawful duties.
- 19. CSEC shares information it collects or acquires with foreign intelligence entities in the United States, the United Kingdom, New Zealand and Australia.
- 20. CSEC shares information it collects with government departments and agencies in Canada, including the Canadian Security Intelligence Service ("CSIS"), Foreign Affairs Canada and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police ("RCMP").
- 21. Section 273.63(2) of the Act sets out the duties of the Office of CSEC Commissioner:
 - a. to review the activities of CSEC to ensure that CSEC is in compliance with the law;
 - b. in response to a complaint, to undertake any investigation that the Commissioner considers necessary; and
 - c. to inform the Minister and the Attorney General of Canada of any activity of CSEC that the Commissioner believes may not be in compliance with the law.
- 22. The Office of CSEC Commissioner reports annually to the Minister.
- 23. The Office of CSEC Commissioner is accountable to the Minister; CSEC is accountable to the Minister.

24. Since the enactment of the Anti-Terrorism Act in December 2001, the Office of CSEC Commissioner has repeatedly recommended to the Minister and to Canada that amendments be made to the impugned provisions to clarify the legal requirements to issue an authorization. No such amendments have been enacted.

Authorizations

- 25. The Minister issued or renewed the following:
 - a. twenty-three (23) authorizations between January 2002 and March 2005;
 - b. six (6) authorizations between 2005 and 2006;
 - c. three (3) authorizations between 2006 and 2007;
 - d. three (3) authorizations between 2007 and 2008;
 - e. three (3) authorizations between 2008 and 2009;
 - f. five (5) authorizations between 2009 and 2010;
 - g. eight (8) authorizations between 2010 and 2011; and
 - h. eight (8) authorizations between 2011 and 2012.
- 26. CSEC collected private communications in accordance with the Authorizations issued by the Minister and set out in paragraph 25 above.

Directives

- 27. The Minister issued the following:
 - a. a directive referred to as the 2005 Collection and Use of Metadata Ministerial Directive, and
 - b. a directive referred to as the 2011 Collection and Use of Metadata Ministerial Directive.
- 28. CSEC collected, analyzed, retained and/or used metadata associated with or produced by persons in Canada in accordance with the Directives issued by the Minister and set out in paragraph 27 above.
- 29. CSEC's collection, analysis, retention and/or use of metadata in accordance with the Directives issued by the Minister revealed private and confidential information about persons in Canada.

The BCCLA

- 30. The BCCLA is a non-profit, non-partisan, unaffiliated advocacy group. The objects of the BCCLA include the promotion, defence, sustainment and extension of civil liberties and human rights throughout British Columbia and Canada. To that end, the BCCLA prepares position papers, engages in public education, assists individuals to address violations of their rights and takes legal action as a plaintiff.
- 31. The BCCLA has a long standing interest in matters of privacy and national security. The BCCLA has been extensively involved in advocacy and education is respect of national security legislation post-September 11, 2001 and has a robust policy portfolio addressing privacy concerns in Canada.
- 32. In addition, the BCCLA has consistently opposed secrecy and a lack of accountability in government.
- 33. The BCCLA has sufficient interest to be granted public interest standing, in that:
 - a. this claim raises a serious challenge to the constitutional validity and applicability of the impugned provisions and government conduct;
 - b. the BCCLA has a demonstrated, serious and genuine interest in the subject matter of this litigation;
 - c. the issue of the constitutional validity of the impugned provisions and government conduct is relevant to all Canadians;
 - d. the BCCLA is comprised of thousands of members, any of whom could have had their private communications intercepted under the impugned provisions;
 - e. the BCCLA is comprised of thousands of members, any of whom could have had their metadata collected, analyzed, retained and/or used by CSEC in accordance with a Directive;
 - f. persons in Canada whose private communications have been intercepted in accordance with an Authorization could not reasonably be expected to bring their own cases to court as the impugned provisions do not require Canada to provide notice to persons whose private communications have been intercepted and Canada has not provided such notice;
 - g. persons in Canada whose metadata has been collected, analyzed, retained and/or used by CSEC in accordance with a Directive could not reasonably be expected to bring their own cases to court as the Directives do not require Canada to provide notice to persons whose metadata has been collected, analyzed, retained and/or used and Canada has not provided such notice; and
 - h. the claim is, in all of the circumstances, a reasonable and effective means of bringing the matter before the court.

Part 2: RELIEF SOUGHT

- 34. The Plaintiff seeks the following relief:
 - a. a declaration that the impugned provisions unjustifiably infringe s. 8 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms (the "Charter"), Part I of the Constitution Act, 1982 being Schedule B to the Canada Act, 1982, c. 11, and are of no force and effect;
 - b. a declaration that the Authorizations unjustifiably infringe s. 8 of the Charter;
 - c. a declaration that the Directives unjustifiably infringe s. 8 of the Charter;
 - d. a declaration that the impugned provisions unjustifiably infringe s. 2(b) of the Charter and are of no force and effect:
 - e. a declaration that the Authorizations unjustifiably infringe s. 2(b) of the Charter;
 - f. a declaration that the Directives unjustifiably infringe s. 2(b) of the Charter;
 - g. such just and appropriate remedy as may be ordered pursuant to s. 24 of the Charter;
 - h. costs, including special costs and applicable taxes on those costs; and
 - i. such further and other relief as this Honourable Court deems meet and just.

Part 3: LEGAL BASIS

Charter, Section 8

35. The Plaintiff relies on s. 8 of the Charter, which states as follows:

Everyone has the right to be secure against unreasonable search or seizure.

- 36. The impugned provisions breach s. 8 of the Charter in that the Authorizations which purport to provide CSEC with legal authority to intercept the private communications of persons in Canada are issued:
 - a. without prior authorization by a neutral and impartial arbiter capable of acting judicially;
 - b. without application of the reasonable and probable grounds standard or, in the alternative, without application of any clear and articulable legal standard;
 - c. without restriction on the breadth of communications to be collected;
 - d. without a reasonable time limit;

- e. without adequate safeguards to ensure the accountability of CSEC in the course of its collection of private communications;
- f. without prohibiting the distribution and use of private communications to entities or authorities outside of Canada;
- g. with no stated limit on, or criteria for, renewal; and
- h. for such other reasons to be advanced.
- 37. Further, and in reference to the Directives set out at paragraph 27 above, persons in Canada have a reasonable expectation that Canada will not collect, analyze, retain, use, and/or distribute internationally metadata associated with or produced by them as such reveals private and confidential information about them.
- 38. CSEC's collection, analysis, retention and/or use of metadata in accordance with the Directives is not authorized by law and constitutes a breach of s. 8 of the Charter for the same reasons set out above in paragraph 36.

Charter, Section 2(b)

39. The Plaintiff relies on s. 2(b) of the Charter, which states as follows:

Everyone has the following fundamental freedoms:

- (b) freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression, including freedom of the press and other media of communication;
- 40. The private communications of persons in Canada constitute expressive content that is protected under s. 2(b) of the Charter.
- 41. The metadata that is associated with or produced by persons in Canada constitutes expressive content that is protected under s. 2(b) of the Charter.
- 42. The impugned provisions and Authorizations that purport to provide CSEC with legal authority to intercept the private communications of persons in Canada are an infringement of s. 2(b) of the Charter.
- 43. The Directives that purport to provide CSEC with legal authority to collect, analyze, retain, use and/or distribute internationally metadata that is associated with or produced by persons in Canada constitute an infringement of s. 2(b) of the Charter.

Charter, Section 1

44. Section 1 of the Charter reads as follows:

The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms guarantees the rights and freedoms set out in it subject only to such reasonable limits prescribed by law as can be demonstrably justified in a free and democratic society.

- 45. The said infringements of s. 8 cannot be justified pursuant to the criteria of s. 1, the burden of proof of which lies on Canada.
- 46. The said infringements of s. 2 (b) cannot be justified pursuant to the criteria of s. 1, the burden of proof of which lies on Canada.
